BAYARD TAYLOR,

CHERRY PECTORAL FOR THE RAPID CURE OF Colds, Coughs and Hoarse.

BRIMFIELD, Mass., 20th Dec. '55.

Br. J. C. Aven: I do not beginte to say the best remedy I have ever found for coughs, hoarseness, influenzs, and the concomitant symptoms of a cold, is your Cherry Pectoral.

Its constant use in my practice and my family for the last ten years has shown it to possess superior virtues for the treatment of these complaints.

Brother Ayer: I will cheerfully certify your Pectoral is the best remedy for the cure of Whooping Cough, Oroup, and the chest diseases of children. We of your fraternity in the South appreciate your skill, and commend your medicine to our people.

HIRAM CONNLIN, M. D.

AMOS LEE, Monterey, Is., writes, 3d Jan., 1855: "I had a tedious influenza, which confined me in doors six weeks: took many medicines without relief; finally triefly your Pectoral by the advice of our clergyman. The first dose relieved the soreness in my throat and lungs; less than one-half the bottle made me completely well. Your medicines are the cheapest as well as the best we can tuy, and we esteem you Doctor, and your remedies, as the poor man's friend."

Asthma, Phthisic, and Bronchitis. WEST MANCHESTER, Pa., Feb. 4. 1856. Sir: Your Cherry Pectoral is performing marvellous cures in this section. It has relieved several from a arming symptoms of consumption, and is now curing a man who has labored under an affection of the lungs for the last 40 years.

HENRY L. PARKS, Merchant. HENRY L. PARKS, Merchant.

A. A. RAMSEY, M. D., Albion, Monroe County, Iowa, writes Sept. 6, 1855: "During my practice of mary years I have found nothing equal to your Cherry Pectoral for giving ease and relief to consumptive patients, or curing such as are curable."

We might add volumes of evidence, but the most con vincing proof of the virtues of this remedy is found in its Probably no one remedy has ever been known which cured so many and such dangerous cases as this. Some no human aid can reach; but even to those the Cherry Pec no human aid can reach; but even to those the Cherry Pectoral affords relief and comfort.

Asron House, N. Y. City, March 5, 1856.

Dector Ayer, Lowell: I feel it a duty and pleasure to inform you what yeur Cherry Pectoral has done for my wife. She had been five months laboring under the dangerous symptons of consumption, from which no aid we could procure gave her much relief. She was steadily falling, until Dr. Strong, of this city, where we have come for advice recommended a trial of your medicine. We bless his kindness, as we do your skill, for she has recovered from that day. She is not yet as strong as she used to be, but is free from her cough, and calls herself west.

Yours, with gratitude and regard.

ORLANDO SHELBY, of Shelbyville.

ORLANDO SHELBY, of Shelbyville. Consumptives, do not despair until you have tried Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It is made by one of the best medical chemists in the world, and its cures all around us bespeak the high merits of its virtues.—Phila. Ledger. Prepared by Dr. J. C. Three ragged, wretched topers stood shivering upon a street corner. They had not a penny between them, and neither had drank a drop—within half an hour. Parson Browniow on Dancing, Hoops, &c. Parson Brownlow, writing from Memphis to his paper, the Knoxville Whig, gives a graphic description of a sermon one recent Sunday evening, and then proceeds as follows:

Returning from church at 10 o'clock, I entered the ball soon tered the ball-room, and occupied the music-stand for two hours, where I could scrutinize all that was passing, learn something of human nature, and gaze upon the fair daughters of the South, robed in costly attire, with forms and had a family, and so fascinating him as to make him "wish I were a boy again." They were all ladies of the first class, whose splendid dresses, ease and grace of manners made them "the ob served of all observers." The style of dress is new, indicating a pure and cultivated taste, greatly admired, and producing a bewitching efct upon gentlemen!
Full and flowing robes are the go now—daz zling colors, such as pink, pure white, velvet jets, blue and dove-colored satins, striped and plaid silks, with namerous heavy flowers, each supporting a figured lace flounce, with Scotch plaid velvet, or ribbon bows in the back and front, and up the sides of some, velvet and ribbon lozenges rose in pyramids, while the sleeves were ornamented with puffs, frills, and fringes costly and beautiful necklaces, bracelets, earrings, breastpins, and wreaths upon the brow, and descriptions of ornaments, turned all eyes

Now, I wish to say that I believe in hoops, and for two hours, from the most favorable stand point, in this unequalled ball-room, I tested thei beauty and advantages, with the aid of eight brilliant chandeliers. Observe, ladies, I say hoops, using the plural number. Shame on your clumsy, single hoop, made of a hickory pole. or an oak split, which many of our ladies in our small towns use, wearing them opposite the knee, showing its entire and rough shape through a flimsy skirt, dragging the dress down by its weight to the shape of a cone, while the twelve or four-teen inches of dress below the hoop, tucks under, and flaps in and out, as the weight of mud, or the force of the wind may require!

The hoops used on this great occasion are the hoops for me. 'I hey are made of rattan, whalebone and brass, extending from the waist to the feet, only two or three inches apart, gradually increasing in size as they full downward, with that gracefal swell that gives to the dress the airy conar of the handsomely inflated balloon, preser ing that lovely mien, touching circumference, that never fails to captivate a gentleman of modest and good taste, such as I claim to be!" The Parson writes with a relish about these little vanities—but one part of the performance was rather too much for him:

One feature of the waltzing got me. It wa to see a young fellow, dressed and perfumed within an inch of his life, squeezing a young lady tight around the waist, with one arm, and with the other, as they mingled with and crossed others in pairs in the dance, gently lifting her dress, and she occasionally raising it higher, all, however, to keep it off the floor, and the lady leaning up to him like a sick kitten to a brickbat! In these squeezing quadrilles I noticed the hoops were rather in the way."

The Sunken Ships at Sebastopol. Ravages of the Timber Worm-The America Wrecking Ships advertised for Sale.

The Constantinople correspondent of the London Times, savs :

'The schooner Silver Key and the steamer General Knox, belonging to the American wrecking Companies which undertook to raise the ver sels of war sunk in the harbor of Sebastanol have returned to Constantinople and are advertised for sale. The attempt to raise the sunken vessels has completely failed, not one of them was recovered.

The Black Sea Terredo, so often attributed to the well calculated imagination of the Russian Admiralty, is a stern reality. It has eaten up the body of the Russian fleet, leaving only the outer shell. The wheel of the Twelve Apostles has been brought down as a specimen. Although it consisted of strong mahogany, two years and a half in the waters of Sebastopol have reduced its weight to almost nothing. No external change s to be seen beyond a few small holes where the greedy miners sunk their shafts.

The most approved contrivances were tried by ed and made seemingly water-tight, but when it came to pumping out it was found that the timber was so rotten that the water percorated every-where through the galleries made by the Teredo. To this in itself invincible difficulty must be added the fact that most of the vessels had sunk from four to six fathoms into the mud. Even if

As they could not be raised, it was tried to blow them up, in order to clear the harbor, which at this moment is so blocked up that only a narrow channel marked out by buoys is left through which small vessels can with difficulty wind their way. The damage done to the timber is, however, so great, that not even the attempt to blow the vessels up succeeded. As much as 5,000 pounds of powder was tried with a two-decker; but as the rotten timber had too little power of resistance the result was that the weakest point gave way and the explosion tore out a small part in t side of the vessel, leaving the rest altogether

The harbor must thus remain blocked up until y degrees the work of the Teredo is done, and the ships fall to pieces. According to the account brought down, eighty-one vessels were found sunk, which is much more than ever was known or supposed. The companies have brought up sufficient anchors, cables, &c., to pay, at any rate part of their expenses, and probably the Ru-Government will make up the difference."

No other reason was given at that time for hauling down the names of these that time for hauling down the names of these than the was as good a Democrate as lived and his course was dictated by a correct as lived and his course was dictated by a McClure and McDonald because they had "repugentlemen. Now the editor of the Democrat says his refusal to support Messrs. McClure and Mc Donald is on account of a conversation he had with them, or some of the candidates, at Indianapolis. If the latter be the true reason it is singu ar that the names of Dodd and the other candi lar that the names of Dodd and the other candidates whom the Democrat represents to be parties to the 23d of February conversation, did not share the same fate as McClure and McDonald.

The same fate as McClure and McDonald.

The same fate as McClure and McDonald. the same fate as McClure and McDonald.

Our candidates upon the State ticket, with one exception, are the present incumbents. They have been tried, and men of all parties unite in saying they have been most faithful, worthy and efficient officers. Every Democratic paper should give the ticket a cheerful and cordial support. They can be elected and they should be triumphantly. It is worse than folly to permit the Kansas embroglio to divide the party or to embarrass 22d of February last, advise and urge the bolting the State election next fall. Differences of sentiment upon one question of public policy should not deter any Democrat from supporting Democratic candidates. The Kansas issue is not involved in the election of State officers whose duties are only administrative or judical under the laws of the State. It is the duty of every the laws of the State. It is the duty of every anti-Lecompton effort, which did no discredit to Democrat to exert his influence to continue the his head, his heart or his Democracy, and wound supremacy of Democratic policy in our State
